Dear [REDACTED]

Being at the CIA was certainly a high point of the SALT II course, Mr. [REDACTED] briefing was top drawer, he was direct in his answers to questions - even ones he was not able to answer on security grounds. We were highly impressed with him.

We thank you for your presentation on the general functions of the agency and your frankness in dealing with some of the problems and rewards of agency work. You may have won some converts, and perhaps, eventually, some employees.

The session was well-executed and your provision of an interpreter was greatly appreciated. Please thank her for Mary Hicks and us.

Thank you for your assistance in bringing the session together and we hope that we may call upon you for future classes.

Sincerely,

AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY:
ON LOCATION - SALT II

Summer, 1979

Dr. Henry P. French, Jr.
Professor of History

Charles R. Salamone
Associate Professor of History and Political Science

I. Purpose of the Course: to utilize governmental and nongovernmental outlets that provide access to foreign policy decision-making, thereby giving students a rare opportunity to view the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT II) process first hand. We will also discuss the formulation of politico-military strategies in SALT with those responsible for their creation and implementation.

II. Behavioral Objectives

A. General: Upon completion of the course, the students will understand the roles and functions of the following in Foreign Policy-making.

- The President of the United States
- The National Security Council (NSC)
- The Department of State (DOS)
- The Department of Defense (DOD)
- The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA)
- The Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA)
- The United States Senate
- The United States House of Representatives
- The Center for Defense Information (CDI)
- The Committee on the Present Danger (CPD)

and be aware of the Constitutional, statutory, customary, and personal relationships within and between these groups.

B. Specific: In addition, the students will:

- examine and be aware of history and background of the SALT process.
- know the terms of the treaties and agreements already concluded within the SALT framework
 - Nuclear Accidents Agreement
 - SALT I
 - Interim Agreement on Strategic Arms
 - The Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty (ABM)
 - Vladivostok Executive Agreement
- discuss with members of the aforementioned governmental and non-governmental (NGO) groups the pros and cons of the proposed SALT II agreement
- examine alternative strategic disarmament and arms limitation proposals

III. Required Readings:

- A. To be completed by May 30 (second night of classes)
John Spanier, How American Foreign Policy is Made (Second Edition)
Available in the bookstore.
- B. To be completed by June 1
Foreign Policy Association, SALT II: Toward Security Or Danger?
Available in class May 29, Cost $2.00.
- C. Recommended Readings--on reserve in the MCC Library
 1. Center for Defense Information: The Defense Monitor
 - a. "SALT: A Race Against the Arms Race." (July, 1977)
 - b. "The Arms Race: Is Paranoia Necessary for Security?" (March, 1978)
 - c. "Hard Running: The U.S. Has Not Dropped Out of the Nuclear Arms Race." (September-October, 1978)
 - d. "The Obsolete ICBM." (March, 1979).
 2. Department of State Publications
 - a. "Selected Documents No. 7."
 - b. "The SALT Process." (January 19, 1978)
 - c. "The Strategic Arms Limitation Talks." (July, 1978)
 - d. "SALT II--The Home Stretch." (September, 1978)
 - e. "Press Conference, Paul C. Warnke, Director ACDA." (October 30, 1978)
 - f. "American Security and SALT." (December, 1978)
 - g. "SALT and the US-Soviet Military Balance."
 - h. "SALT II: Two Views." (April, 1979).
 3. Other sources:
 - a. Brown, General George S. "United States Military Posture for F7 1979." Department of Defense Bulletin.
 - b. Erickson, John. "SALT II, A Soviet Triumph," Conservative Digest, (January, 1979).
 - c. Gumbleton, Thomas J. "Chaplains Blessing the Bombers," Commonweal, (2 March, 1979)
 - d. Hehir, Bryan J. "Limited but Substantial Achievements," Commonweal, (2 March, 1979).
 - e. Jackson, William D. "Policy Assessment at the Crossroads: The Soviets and SALT," Commentary, (April, 1979)
 - f. Johansen, Robert C. "Toward a Dependable Peace: A Proposal for an Appropriate Security System," Institute for World Order.
 - g. Rostow, Eugene V. "The Case Against SALT II," Commentary, (February, 1979)

IV. Course Requirements and Policy: Because of the nature of the course, we must require that you attend all of the classes, briefing and evaluation sessions and that written work be submitted on the due date. Class attendance is mandatory to insure continuity and promote discussion, and on time written assignments mean that all class participants will receive fair and equal treatment for their work. Work not conforming to the requirements will not be accepted and will be returned ungraded.

IV. (Continued)

Paper Format: Each student will submit an individual paper based on his/her role playing as a member of a group to be determined during the second week of classes. It shall consist of your proposals for an acceptable SALT II Treaty. The respective members will also submit a group paper on the same topic.

The individual paper will be 3-5 pages, double spaced with no more than 1" margin on each side and 1½" top and bottom margins. There must be no fewer than five bibliographic sources. A Guide to Bibliographic Form, available free in the library should be used to prepare the bibliography. A title page including the topic, your name and group must accompany the paper. It is due and will be presented Monday, June 11.

The group paper will be similar to the individual papers, except that it should be 5-7 pages.

Each paper will count 1/3 of your final grade.

An essay examination will count the other 1/3 of your final grade. It will be handed out Wednesday, May 30 and completed in class on Wednesday, June 13.

V. Class ScheduleFIRST WEEK: The Policy Process

Tuesday: The President and Foreign Policy: Bureaucratic and Political Parameters, The National Security Council and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Wednesday: Components and Formulation of American Foreign Policy: The Department of State and the Department of Defense.

Thursday: The Legislative Branch and Foreign Policy: Congressional Oversight.

FROM : Associate Coordinator for Academic Relations, NFAC

SUBJECT : 6 June 1979 Monroe College Visit

1. Professor Charles Salamone will be bringing a group of about 15 students to visit the Agency on 6 June between 9:30-11:00. They have expressed an interest in receiving an unclassified briefing on the Intelligence Community monitoring SALT II or some other SALT II topic. Is it possible for a member of the SALT Support Staff to brief this group? They also will be visiting DoD and State.

2. This group was scheduled to visit last year and you agreed to provide a briefing of about 20 minutes duration followed by a question and answer period. Due to some funding problems at the school, the trip was called off.

STATINTL

Dear [REDACTED]

This summer we are planning another offering of our "American Foreign Policy: On Location" course which you helped coordinate last year. We hope that the Agency will once again be of assistance to us.

The topic of this year's course is SALT: Hope for World Peace, or Threat to United States Security? We will spend a full week in the Washington area and would like to arrange for a briefing session on the CIA role in intelligence gathering and assessments as they pertain to evaluation of Soviet policy aims in this area. Last year we also had a brief presentation on the roles and functions of the agency, and this may also be included, if you wish. In addition, we would like to have a tour of areas open to the public.

If it is at all possible, we would like to arrange for the briefing and discussion for no more than twenty students on Tuesday, 6 June from 1400 to 1600.

I plan to be in Washington March 27-31, and if you feel that a brief meeting will facilitate coordination, I will be happy to discuss this matter at your convenience.

Thank you for your consideration, and we look forward to another academically profitable session.

Sincerely,

Talk'd to Salamone today (30). He will not have names of students who will come on 6/6 until a week or so before, because they do not register for course until then. He will call us with names, DOB's, etc. on May 31 or so. I have confirmed that visit on 6/6 from 2 to 4. One hour on SALT () and one hour general (). They will have their own transportation (two vans).

We will have to notify the guards at gate so they can easily get on grounds.
